The “Aid and Attendance” benefit is one of the VA’s best-kept secrets from our retired service men and women. War time veterans over age 65 who require the “aid and attendance” of another person to meet their needs may receive as much as $2,431 per month to help defer the cost of long- term care expenses such as home care, assisted living community fees and nursing home costs. Surviving spouses can qualify for up to $1,318 per month. Learn more about this “hidden benefit” and other non-service related benefits.
